HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF "39"

About twelve years ago in the years 1926 and 1927 most of us entered kindergarten or first grade. We all felt spry and eager to get started in this new phase of life just as we do now in the entirely new phase of life's work. As the years progressed, we passed through the grades with the usual sicknesses such as measles, whooping cough, and scarlet fever. We entered the junior high, anxious to try this new kind of school where every class was in a different room, but this novelty soon wore off.

As Freshmen we started our high school life in 1935. Each one went his own way to the different classes, and so we became somewhat separated until at the end of the year our class picnic, under the supervision of Mr. Benson, our adviser, was held at Mr. Benson's parents' farm.

With Miss Swanson and Miss Lawson as our advisers our Sophomore year started out and with it came notices on the boards telling each Sophomore he was delinquent in his dues. After a mammoth struggle, we all ended up as Juniors.

Miss Cronin, our adviser, opened our eyes to the fact that work had to be done in order to give the Seniors a prom. We filled that year with successful penny suppers, card parties, and other money raising ideas. On June 25, 1939 the fatal hour came with the gym a hustle and bustle of decorating committees, each fearful that the decorations would not be finished by eight o'clock, but they were. May I add it was a very successful affair.

Then came the big year—Seniors at last. Oh; What a thrill. With Mrs. Hatch as our adviser our work started all over again. All business men and women at heart our candy salesmen started to work. Then came the big night December 1, 1938 when in "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington all the talent finally got together. This was followed by a penny supper and card party. We ended the year of social functions with the prom, a very successful affair, thanks to the Juniors.

Now we are ready to graduate and every one will go his own way, each having his own history and future to write. Let each one be successful.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, being the only surviving members of this Senior Class of 1939 of Celoron High School on beautiful Chautauqua Lake, being in various degrees of mental confusion and disorder do hereby outline this, our last will and testament, in hopes that in due time it may benefit someone, somewhere.

To our beloved class adviser, Mrs. Bernice Hatch, we affectionately leave all our appreciation for her much needed guidance, but with all our deepest regrets, we leave her the oncoming Junior class.

To the ungrateful, untrained undergraduates, the Seniors, renowned for generosity throughout this entire world of men, women, and children, do bequeath the following articles:

- 1. Our magnificent, modern, familiar Celoron High School.
- 2. All honorably won trophies to be found, if any.
- 3. Our beloved and learned faculty who practically pushed us through four years of physical torture and mental agony.
 - 4. Mrs. Hatch's motherly, friendly guidance.
- 5. Our dainty refuse containers to those who insist upon cluttering up our beautiful grounds.
- 6. All text books we have been unable to lose, and all surviving desks.

We, being of unsound and unbalanced mind, did believe that if we did not sufficiently train the faculty to our noble standards, they would promptly train us to theirs, so employed all our fiendish abilities to prevent such a terrible catastrophe.

As results from such fiendish practices, our noble and learned class does hereby, herefore, and hereto bequeath to the unappreciative, ignorant youngsters of the Junior class the following properties, habits, deformities, and vices:

Carol Wistran and Beatrice Johnson leave their red hair to anyone with a temper to match. June Nord leaves her naturalness to Joyce Anderson to enable Joyce to successfully overcome some of that sophistication. To Priscilla Zahn, Eunice leaves her spontaneous ability to blush. However, it may be that nothing strikes Priscilla hard enough for such an effect. Eunice, being stricken with a bad case of generosity, bestows also upon her little brother, Donald Jacobson, her ability to become class salutatorian. Another generous Senior, Floyd Brown, leaves his Latin ability to his little sister, Betty Brown, in case she takes Latin next year. Floyd also leaves his poor salesmanship to anyone who wants it. Eva Camfield, who never gets in anyone's way, leaves her art of making herself scarce to Edna Howard. Speaking of art, artist Geraldine Gray bequeaths her ability to hold her "darling" to Hazel McAvoy. Elsie Lundgren bequeaths unto the unchangeable Herbert McMaster her changeable disposition. But Elsie definitely does not leave her desk to anyone, as she intends to have further use for it next year as a post graduate. Norman Lind leaves to Dorothy Staples his wise-cracking ability. Fred Anderson, Thomas Einch, and Leonard Spencer leave to Doris Hoover their immense imaginations when it comes to spelling. This will be a big relief to the boys, and maybe it will help Doris in typing shorthand. Lynn Powers leaves to Ruth Nisson his "ways and means" ability to get out of attending school. This is just in case Ruth gets tired of studying and playing the piano for assembly programs. Billy Quist leaves his congeniality to make life more pleasant to Marshall Mease. That reminds us that Maxine Swart leaves her enjoyment of bus rides to Jerome Wassman. Mac especially enjoyed the return trips from Fredonia and Snyder.

Beatrice Johnson's regular church attendance is left by her as a helpful hint to Frank Haskell. Ronald Sandberg's natural disposition to expand is left to encourage Frances Eckholm. Carrie Field, our valedictorian, leaves her learning capacity to Wesley Oberg with hopes that he will make use of it. Hazel Anderson leaves her ability to make herself heard to all timid Juniors. Margaret Evans leaves her ability as an orator to Herbert McMaster, who seems to be in dire need of it. Margaret Jackson bequeaths to Warren McCrea her flexibility and her dancing ability. To quiet Doris Hoover, Dorris Knapp leaves her ready ability to enter any and all conversations. Charlotte Lawson leaves her endless supply of jokes to Marshall Mease to cheer him up next year. To the entire Junior class (and to the disgust of the entire faculty), Lucia Holcomb most generously leaves her gum-chewing ability. In order to help the Junior class, especially Roger Mason, struggle through next year by the skin of their teeth, Archie Skoglund leaves his ability to talk endlessly without saying anything. Edward Linquist leaves his long legs to Gerald Anderson. Maybe that will make a place for Jerry in school. To Jack Miller we leave Kuhl Gaynor's safe driving ability. Then the rest of the class will be able to count on Jack's arrival in one piece. Kuhl also leaves his ability to sponge paper to whom it may concern (except Carl Swanson).

To Robert Holmes, Richard Ringer sympathetically leaves his natural waves. We wonder as to the results. May Seiberg leaves to Myrtle McMaster her enjoyment of a variety of boy-friends. It seems Myrtle is definitely satisfied with just one. To boisterous but petite Frances Scalise, Mildred Pearson leaves her quietness. Janice Hannon leaves her sweetness, naturalness and shorthand ability to Mable Nowell and Muriel Stebbins to aid them in the coming year. To Joyce Bernhardt, Luella Otten bequeaths her complete enjoyment of Clayton's sundaes, gum, and coca-colas. Roderick Burrows leaves his quiet practicalness to impractical Loretta Bucklaew. Joe Mallare willingly and with a sigh of relief leaves his trumpet playing ability to Everald Erickson in hopes that Everald's neighbors will regain their hearing. Phyllis Peterson protestingly leaves her skating ability to all Juniors in need of it. To practical Dorothy Staples, Richard Nelson leaves his constant habit of revealing his true age—"17" in all his actions.

To any sourpuss Junior who is in dire need of a good humor, Carol Wistran bequeaths her ready giggle. We hope said Juniors will enjoy it as we did.

In testimony whereof, we, the class of 1939 have, to this, our last Will and Testament contained on one roll of foolscap and consisting of the distribution of our properties, subscribed and affixed our seals, this 28th day of June, 1939, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine.

SENIOR CLASS REVIEW

The Senior Class of 1938-39 has successfully upheld the fine scholarship achieved by previous Seniors.

This year has been a busy one in regard to social activities. Besides the numerous extra class activities, the Seniors presented a class play and sold Christmas cards in the fall. In the spring a card party was given at which bridge and Chinese checkers were enjoyed.

With only a few more weeks of studying left, the Seniors are eagerly anticipating the annual Junior-Senior Prom, sponsored by the Juniors and to be held at the school, also the annual Senior dance, sponsored by Darling's Jewelry Store and to be held at the Casino.

For most of the Seniors this term has slipped rapidly by, and while the grand finale of their high school days draws near, probably every one of them is fast realizing what a faithful friend Celoron High School has become.

Senior Class officers are as follows:

President	Fred Anderson
Vice President	Eunice Jacobson
Secretary
Treasurer	Carol Wistran
Business Manager	Janice Hannon
Candy Manager	01 1 1
Class Adviser

CLASS PROPHECY

On this Class night of 1939 we observe through the crystal events ten years hence. As the mist of time rises, we behold a fair young lady spading away in her garden. She looks like a farmerette, but she is really the great horticulturist, Carrie Fields. The scene shifts to Chicago. We find Lynn Powers in an undertaking parlor. He is now an expert in the art of embalming. As the picture fades we see a village familiar to all present. Here we notice Ronald Sandberg peddling milk for Seiberg's Dairy. It is only a "stop gap" job however, and he is headed toward better things. Hazel Anderson is teaching first grade at Celoron and is the energetic Girl Scout instructor there.

As we are whisked off to Buffalo, we find a great bio-chemist, Fred Anderson, and his beautiful secretary, Janice Hannon, pondering over specimens which have just arrived from Africa. Together they have published many valuable theses.

The scene changes to the Park Central Hotel in New York where Lucia Holcomb is the switch board operator. Among the guests we find Roderick Burrows, the millionaire oil magnate, who showers her with attention. There are many others who have seen much of New York since our Glee Club trip there. Even now Beatrice Johnson is attending church with Willie in the Little Church Around the Corner. They are happily married. Beatrice helps out with the finances now and then by waiting on tables. The scene changes to the Mayfair Academy where we find Luella Otten modeling dresses. Her work is outstanding and may be rewarded any day with a Hollywood contract.

The scene changes to the capitol city. We see Archie Skoglund as the filibustering senator from New York. No, he is not at a loss for words. He uses the same tactics that he used in high school. Congress seems to be the place for men who can say the least in the most words. In an office nearby we find Leonard Spencer who has become an expert draftsman busily at work. He spares some time, however, to visit Eva Camfield now and then. She is a reporter on the Washington Gazette.

We are whisked out into the farm lands of Illinois where we find Dorris Knapp and her husband Paul running a big farm. . . Once in a while they go to the city on their motorcycle to visit Betty Kisshauer and Ray who run a large gas station near there. On Saturday nights the four of them never miss going to a dance.

Things are getting hazy. Let me dust off the crystal as the time takes us south to Florida. A big league pitcher is warming up. It is Dick Ringer who never breaks the training rules or he'll get his head broken with a rolling pin swung by his wife, Elsie Lundgren. In the last Olympic Games she became the women's high diving champion.

The scene changes to Jamestown, New York, where June Nord is teaching bookkeeping in the business college there. As a sideline she teaches tap dancing. The crystal now takes us to Rochester where Eunice Jacobson is head dietician in the Good Housekeeping Institute. She is still undecided as to which is the right man for her.

The scene in the crystal now changes to the Pacific Coast where Norman Lind owns a large citrus farm. He has a luxurious home where he often entertains old class mates. A certain sailor, Kuhl Gaynor, now a first class electrician's mate, often visits here to discuss inventions in which they have a mutual interest. In nearby Santiago we see Phyllis Peterson keeping books for a large corporation of which her husband is general manager. It is still impossible to keep her away from the roller rinks.

Back east in Maine we find both Mae Seiberg and Carol Wistran on the faculty of the University of Maine. Both have earned a tenure and are well situated for life. In nearby Boston, Maxine Swart and Charlotte Lawson are commercial artists. Maxine Swart paints landscapes as sideline while Charlotte writes short stories.

The scene changes to Philadelphia where we find that Mildred Pearson is a dental secretary in the Naval Hospital. A frequent visitor at the hospital is Floyd Brown who runs a grocery store around the corner. A great military figure is brought to our attention. Edward Linquist is not only a clever military strategist but has out-done Einstein by developing a fifth dimension theory.

The year 1949 is an eventful one for Joseph Mallare and Richard Nelson. Joseph's orchestra has just made a successful television broadcast. Mr. Nelson has been given the Nobel prize for being the best concert pianist.

We are whisked across the Caribbean Sea to Cuba where Geraldine and Billy Darling occupy the embassy. Geraldine spends most of her time painting landscapes and health slogans to promote world peace.

As time passes, we are taken to a movie set in Hollywood where Billy Quist is head photographer. He turns out record making pictures and has a home in Beverly Hills. He sometimes calls on Margaret Evans who is physical director in a girls' school in a nearby village. In Hollywood we also see Margaret Jackson whose profession is teaching aesthetic dancing to some of the country's outstanding stars.

Last but by no means least we find Thomas Einch surveying land up in Alaska where the government is planning to build a power plant so that the Eskimos can use the electrical devices sold to them by the thirtyniners who worked their way through college.

The Sophomore Class at a meeting held in September elected the following officers:

President Shirley Scott
Vice President Deane Squier
Secretary Leslie Winans
Treasurer Ruth King
Class Reporter Harold Lind
Student Council Florence Bachelor, Milton Linquist

The class has been quite successful financially. They have held various functions including a bake sale. They have started a Junior-Senior Prom fund from their P. T. A. attendance prizes.

The class lost three members this year: James Barkman, Robert Gustafson and Mario Mahoney.

The Sophomore Class has had a very successful year, and they wish to extend their thanks to Mrs. Porter and Mr. Levin for their kind cooperation.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

The Freshman Class of 1939 held a meeting last September and elected Marguerite Sames as president, Joyce See as vice president and Emerald Jackson as secretary-treasurer. They also chose June Root as reporter and Mr. Levin as class adviser.

The class has been very successful in collecting dues. Last December they gave a short Christmas play which was enjoyed by the entire student body.

Many members of the class have been on the honor-roll this year. Many more are added each time.

JUNIOR CLASS

In September the class of 1940 held a meeting and elected the following officers: President, Donald Jacobson; vice president, Russel Barron; secretary and treasurer, Ruth Nisson; business manager, Hazel McAvoy.

The class of "40" had a successful year both socially and financially. During the year they sponsored a penny supper and pancake supper. They also sponsored a bazaar at the March P. T. A. meeting. The last class function was a penny circus during which the lower hall was a scene of merriment and hilarity.

The annual Junior-Senior Prom was a great success. The gymnasium was very cleverly transformed into an old music shop. The members of both classes presented a very pleasing appearance attired in evening clothes and each wearing his class flower, a gift from the Junior Class. The prom will long be remembered by both the class of "40" and the class of "39".

ACTIVITIES

GLEE CLUB IN NEW YORK CITY

At 5:30 Thursday morning, May 26, the Glee Club waved good-bye to the group of parents who had gathered to see them off to New York City. After riding sixteen hours they arrived at the Park Central Hotel where the group stayed during their visit.

At 9:30 the next morning the Glee Club sang at the Harren High School where they competed in the national contest. They were rated excellent. This meant the group had kept up the same rating as received in Fredonia and Snyder although each contest had been more difficult than the preceding one.

In the afternoon the Glee Club broke up into groups and went to any of the many noted spots in New York City they had time for. In the evening many looked at the lights on Broadway, while others attended the theater or a radio station.

Saturday morning was spent by most of the group in resting. Many swam in the hotel pool. In the afternoon the group took the bus to the World's Fair where they tired themselves out by trying to see everything in six hours. The group did not leave until the lights were turned on, as they added much to the beauty of the fair. The next sixteen hours were spent driving back to Celoron. The singers were very tired, but the overwhelming greeting the home comers received brought back all of the pep that had long been smothered with drowsiness.

The trip proved to be a success only because it was supported wholeheartedly by the entire community.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club of Celoron High School consists of forty members and an accompanist, Ruth Nisson. This is a voluntary group. Any pupil who loves to sing can join the Glee Club. Unfortunately the number has to be limited.

This group is an exceptionally well balanced mixed chorus. At the Fredonia festival this year the Glee Club was rated "excellent." The judges gave them the highest rating in appearance, stage presence, and showmanship. The Fredonia trip, which was taken April 25, won for the group the opportunity of competing in the state music festival at Snyder, Friday, May 12. At Snyder they were rated second and were eligible for the national contest at New York City.

Tuesday, May 2, the Glee Club sang at the Mothers' Club meeting at Glidden Avenue School. They made an appearance in assembly Wednesday, May 10, to celebrate National Music Week.

A little more than a year ago the Glee Club received their robes which are royal blue with an orange panel trim down the front. The Glee Club forms a very pleasing sight when they make an appearance in their robes. For the last two years Mr. Horton Amsden has directed this group.

BAND

The Celoron band has been in existence only two years but in that time very much has been accomplished. It started with three individuals who owned their own instruments. Today there are forty members who range from second graders to seniors, the majority being in the grades or junior high school. This makes a good foundation for later years. Since its existence it has been directed by Horton Amsden.

During the last basketball season the group played at most of the home games and even made the trip to Chautauqua with the team.

At the last two festivals at Fredonia the band has played but not competed. This year it was rated "good" in Class C. This classification is made on the enrollment of the school, not years of organization. The band was judged the highest in appearance and showmanship.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY

"Murdered Alive," presented by the Dramatic Club of 1939 in the Celoron High School auditorium on March 2, was thoroughly enjoyed by the student body, faculty and community. This mystery comedy was directed by Mrs. Hazel Porter.

The young heroine, Arlene, and the hero, Warner, were portrayed by Mae Seiberg and Richard Nelson. Priscilla Zahn supplied the humor of the play when she continually henpecked her husband, LeRoy Apotosh. Audrey Seager, a hayseed from Creston Corners, became a suspect of the murder of Arlene's wealthy uncle. Doris Knapp, the persistent mother of Arlene, fell in love with Donald Jacobson, the lawyer. The plot thickened on the arrival of Jean Linquist, a fake spiritualist, but all was solved when Archie Skoglund, the mysterious stranger, proved himself not dead and was led from the stage into happy matrimony by Ruth Nisson, a secretary. The play ended with Hazel McAvoy's collapsing in the arms of her lover, Roderick Burrows, the phony detective.

The scenery was erected by Mr. Rose and his helpers, Marshall Mease, Leonard Spencer and Harry Johnson. The property man was Norman Lind.

The Dramatic Club has been organized within the last two years.

SEVENTEEN

By Booth Tarkington

On December 1, 1938, the Senior Class presented its annual play in the Celoron High School auditorium. The play, "Seventeen," by Booth Tarkington, was enjoyed by a capacity audience.

The story centered around a seventeen year old boy who sincerely believed himself to be in love with Lola, while his family cramped his style by treating him like a baby and calling him "Silly Bill." To impress Lola, Bill stole his father's dress suit and, thanks to his little sister, his mother stole it back again and left him with nothing to wear to Lola's going away party.

Richard Nelson was cast in the leading role of William Sylvanus and played opposite Mae Seiberg, cast as Lola, the baby talk lady. They were supported by an able cast with comedy supplied by Maxine Swart as the "kid sister" and Floyd Brown as the colored servant, Genesis. Others in the cast were Carol Wistran, William Quist, Roderick Burrows, Geraldine Gray, Archie Skoglund, Edward Linquist, June Nord, Fred Anderson, Eunice Jacobson and Joseph Mallare. A fine performance was given by the entire cast under the direction of Mrs. Hazel Porter.

KAPPA ZETA CHI

The Beta Chapter of Kappa Zeta Chi of Celoron was started in February 1937. It is a branch of the Jamestown Kappa Zeta Chi.

The Kappa Zeta Chi aims to inspire friendship, loyalty, and good will among its members.

The honorary members now attending colleges will be welcomed back at the annual banquet to be held sometime in July.

The Kappa Zeta Chi have enjoyed an eventful and also highly successful year, in which they have added many new members.

KAPPA PHI

A very successful year has been spent by the Kappa Phi, for a deep bond of friendship and a feeling of sisterhood have been established.

New members who have been received into our society this year are: Margarite Sames, Catherine Bucklaew, Audrey Zimmerman, June Root, Joyce See, and Beverly Spencer. Two formal initiations have been held in honor of these members at Gretchen's Kitchen. Dorothy Bucklaew, Hazel Spencer and Rosalie Hedberg are now on pledge. Their formal initiation will be the last activity of this school year.

The Kappa Zeta Chi, Sigma Gamma Phi, Chi Sigma Chi and Kappa Phi held a Hallowe'en party at the American Legion Clubhouse in October. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all in dancing and playing games. The next outstanding event of the year was the Kappa Phi "Get Acquainted" party to which each member brought a friend. On the evening of May 16, the Kappa Zeta Chi entertained our society at the American Legion. A buffet luncheon was served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

We have 25 members in our society at the present time, and although many Seniors of this year will become our honorary members, we hope to continually grow throughout the school years.

Our organization is anticipating a house party on Chautauqua Lake or Allegany State Park this summer, and we are all looking forward to it with a great deal of excitement.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial Club was inaugurated in the fall of 1938 by students of Miss Cronin's shorthand and typewriting classes.

The constitution was drawn up by Maxine Swart, Doris Hoover, and Charlotte Lawson.

Meetings have been held regularly each Monday, the eighth period. The club has had a busy year printing the school newspapers for the Student Council. Next year the club hopes to publish the entire paper.

A tea was given by the Commercial Club in June. The guests were teachers and students who are interested in joining the organization next year. Mr. La Rae Gantt, commercial manager of the Jamestown Telephone Company, gave an interesting talk on advertising, and the club was invited to visit the telephone company's offices.

Another June meeting was devoted to hygiene and appearance. Miss Lenna who was the speaker gave some useful tips to the club members.

The club earned money by selling ice cream during the months of May and June.

The Commercial Club officers are as follows:

President	Edna Howard
Vice President	Charlotte Lawson
Secretary	Doris Hoover
Treasurer	Dorothy Staples
Adviser	Miss Marion Cronin

CHI IOTA OMEGA

Chi Iota Omega Fraternity was founded by a group of Celoron High School students in 1930. On October 29, 1935, this steadily growing and firmly established organization joined with Chi Sigma Chi, a national fraternity. Since that time the group has been known as Delta Sigma Chapter.

The aim of this organization has been to encourage high scholarship, aid in the development of character, provide social activities, and influence its members toward better citizenry.

The Chapter is particularly proud of its members who are now attending such colleges and universities as Allegheny, Alfred, Rochester, Yale, and Leland Powers.

Among the other activities which always command interest is the annual mid-summer reunion. On this occasion the day is given over to sports, competition being keen between the older and younger members.

Delta Sigma Chapter takes this opportunity of wishing success and happiness to the class of 1939.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

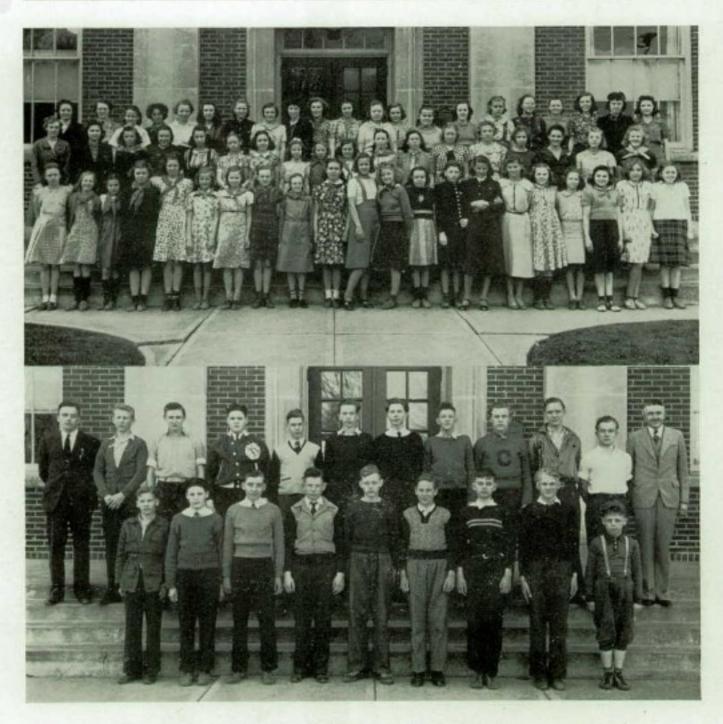

The Photography Club was organized in September 1938. At present the club consists of fifteen members who attend the bi-weekly meet-In September 1938, the following officers were elected: ings.

President Kenneth Gladd Vice President Marshall Peterson Secretary-Treasurer _ Harold Lind Faculty Adviser Mr. Ernest Levin

This year the Photography Club completed its darkroom and bought an enlarger. During meetings films were developed, negatives were printed, and enlargements were made. During one meeting a talk was given by Roger Fornell, an employee of the Eastman Kodak Company. Some of the meetings of the club were devoted to showing slides. These slides showed proper arrangement of subjects, good use of light and shadows, and many other photographical features.

Several members of the club have made notable progress in photography and have expressed their views in the following remark, "It is very interesting work and a lot of fun."

BOY SCOUTS - TROOP 20

Troop 20 of Celoron High School with the aid of the Parent Teachers' Association and the leadership of its scoutmaster, Mr. Ernest Levin, and its assistant scoutmaster, Mr. Gerald Chamberlain, has become a very progressive and outstanding troop. The treasurer, Mr. Jerome Wassman, Sr., and the committeemen, Mr. John Pilette, Mr. Elton Petersen, Mr. Bruce Moyer, Mr. Sherman Jacobson, Mr. Clayton Bratt, and Dr. D. L. Wetzen, have all worked energetically to improve the troop as a whole.

Troop 20 participates in many activities including sports, hiking, camping, and dramatics. We, troop 20 of Celoron, wish to thank Mr. John B. Pillette, Principal of Celoron High School, for his enthusiastic support, and we also wish to thank the Board of Education for the use of the high school gymnasium as a meeting place. We feel that they are helping the younger generation to be true patriotic men.

GIRL SCOUTS

There are three Girl Scout troops in the Celoron district. Troop 14 is under the leadership of Captain Pauline Lopus; Troop 28, under Captain Virginia Allen and Lieutenant Frances Eckholm; Troop 26, under Captain Marian Woodard and Lieutenant Hazel Anderson. The majority of troop 14 are first class scouts; many from each troop are second class.

The girls have enjoyed many exciting week-ends at Camp Newatah on Chautauqua Lake.

ETIQUETTE CLUB

The Etiquette Club, instituted in September 1938, is one of Celoron High School's most recent organizations.

Meetings have been held every Wednesday during the eighth period. The club members have found these meetings very interesting and have gained much useful knowledge.

In February the club entertained the Senior Class at an informal gathering. In March the club attended a party given for them by the Lakewood High School home economics class, at Lakewood.

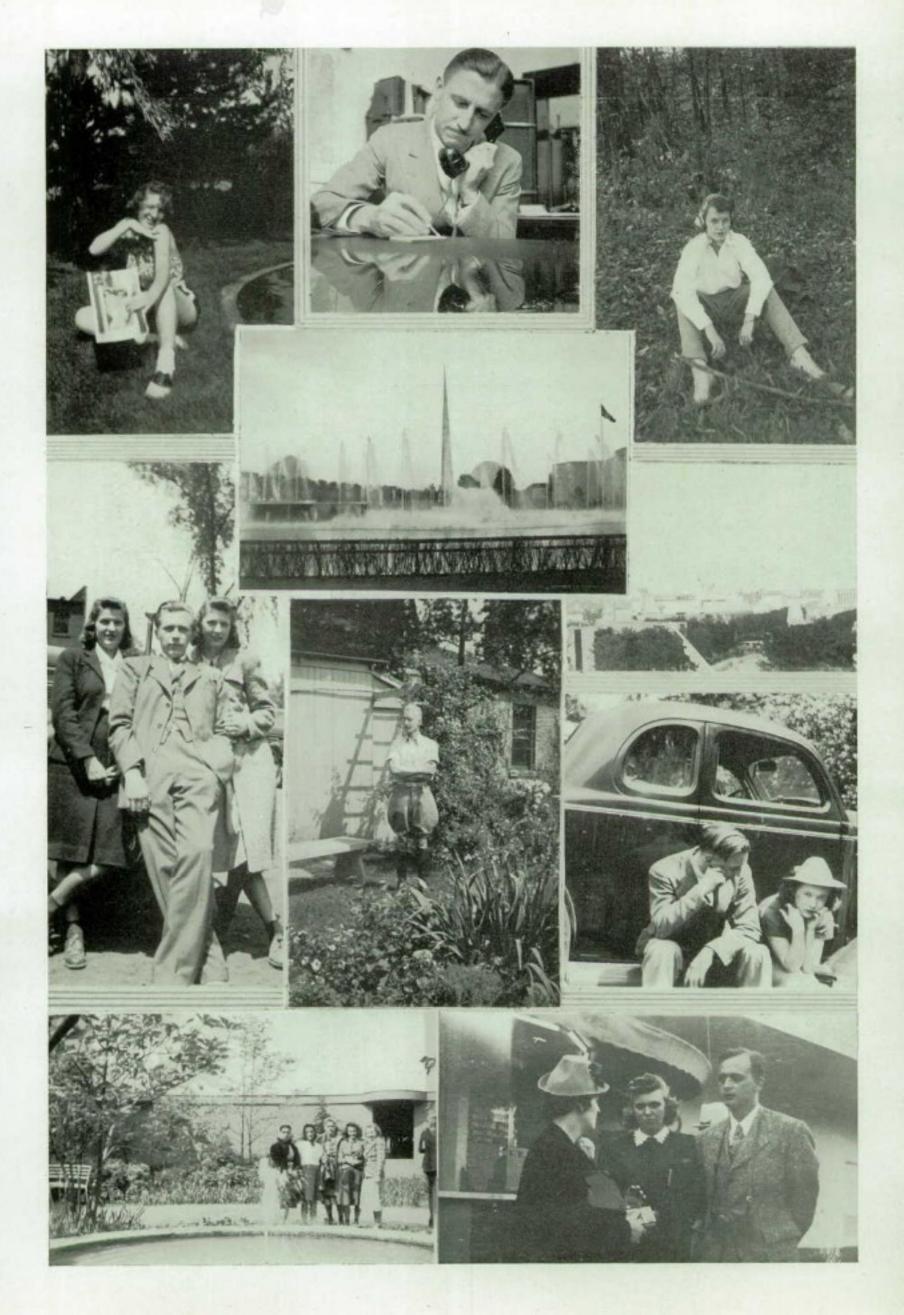

The members of the Etiquette Club are looking forward to next year, which promises to be more successful than this one.

The officers are:

Faculty Adviser Miss Muriel White President Margaret Evans Vice President Dorris Knapp Secretary Elsie Lundgren

Constitution Committee:

June Evans, Beatrice Johnson, Helen J. Fornell, Hazel Anderson

ATHLETICS

BASKETBALL 1938-39

The Celoron High School basketball team had a very successful season this year with twelve victories and only four defeats.

Except for a mid-season slump when they lost three out of four games, the Blue and Orange played very consistent ball. The most exciting games of the season were the two losses to Lakewood and Frewsburg by one point and the win over Chautauqua by the same margin.

VOLLEY BALL

The Celoron High School volley ball team, which was composed of twelve players, went to Dunkirk Saturday, April 1, to participate in the annual Chautauqua County volley ball tournament. This tournament, in which all schools of the county may compete, was divided into four leagues. The Celoron team was in the league composed of Jamestown, Falconer, and Dunkirk Vocational. The Celoron team was very successful and won its league. Celoron was beaten by Dunkirk High, the winner of the tournament, in the semi-finals.

Captain William Quist, Marshall Mease, Harry Johnson, Robert Lattimore, Richard Ringer, Donald Jacobson, Edward Linquist, Milton Linquist, Fred Anderson, Richard Swanson, Richard Nelson and Paul Rolph.

BASEBALL 1939

The Celoron baseball team opened their season with Ripley. After a tough break Celoron lost their first game. The squad made up for it by beating Mayville, Chautauqua, and Silver Creek, but lost again to Ripley at Celoron. With but one more game to play, Celoron has won seven and lost two out of its ten game schedule.
