To the YOUTH OF AMERICA

The background of the page is a dark blue color. Overlaid on this are several large, stylized white clouds. The clouds are composed of rounded, overlapping shapes, giving them a soft, billowy appearance. They are scattered across the upper and middle portions of the page, with some appearing to rise from the bottom edge.

The Taleoken of 1941 is endeavoring to form a permanent tribute to the youth of this year. Through our aviation theme we hope to reproduce in print the patriotic spirit of American boys and girls. For, with justification, we feel that our high school students are the most fortunate persons on this earth. Because of our American way of government and life, we are able to look forward to the future, not with dread and discouragement, but with hope and confidence. In return for all the opportunities and advantages offered to us by this glorious country, we are preparing to devote our humble services and our lives to it. Let us never forget the words spoken by that brave spirit of another generation: "We must march, . . . we must bear the brunt of danger, We, the youthful sinewy races, all the rest on us depend."

Prelude to Flight

introduces the reader to a book which recalls the days when we secretly plan to set the world afire but find that in

Ground School

where we spend our freshmen days those dreams begin to take on an aspect of reality and the inspiration to become makes us sophomores assume an air of importance since we are now part of the senior student body making important preparations for a and the rank of juniors who look forward to graduation and admission to the final do-or-die test which will qualify us to boast on that day of days and leave our places as seniors with a degree of regret and accept the challenge to join the ranks of veterans.

We Get Our Wings

Prelude to Flight

"The old order changeth, making way for the new." We of the Taleoken staff, in compiling this annual for 1940-1941, have been constantly aware of the truth of this statement and, in endeavoring to follow the trend of the times, we have found it necessary to uproot certain traditions in regard to arrangement. In carrying out the theme of the book, we have likened our progress through high school to the training course of the ambitious young pilot, following chronologically the steps from his entrance into ground school to the final winning of the wings. This has resulted in the removal of the seniors from their accustomed place "up front" to a spot nearer the back of the book. This and other innovations we submit to you now for your approval. We sincerely hope we have succeeded in pleasing you with our efforts.

Seventeen hundred of us pass in and out each day.

SCHOOL

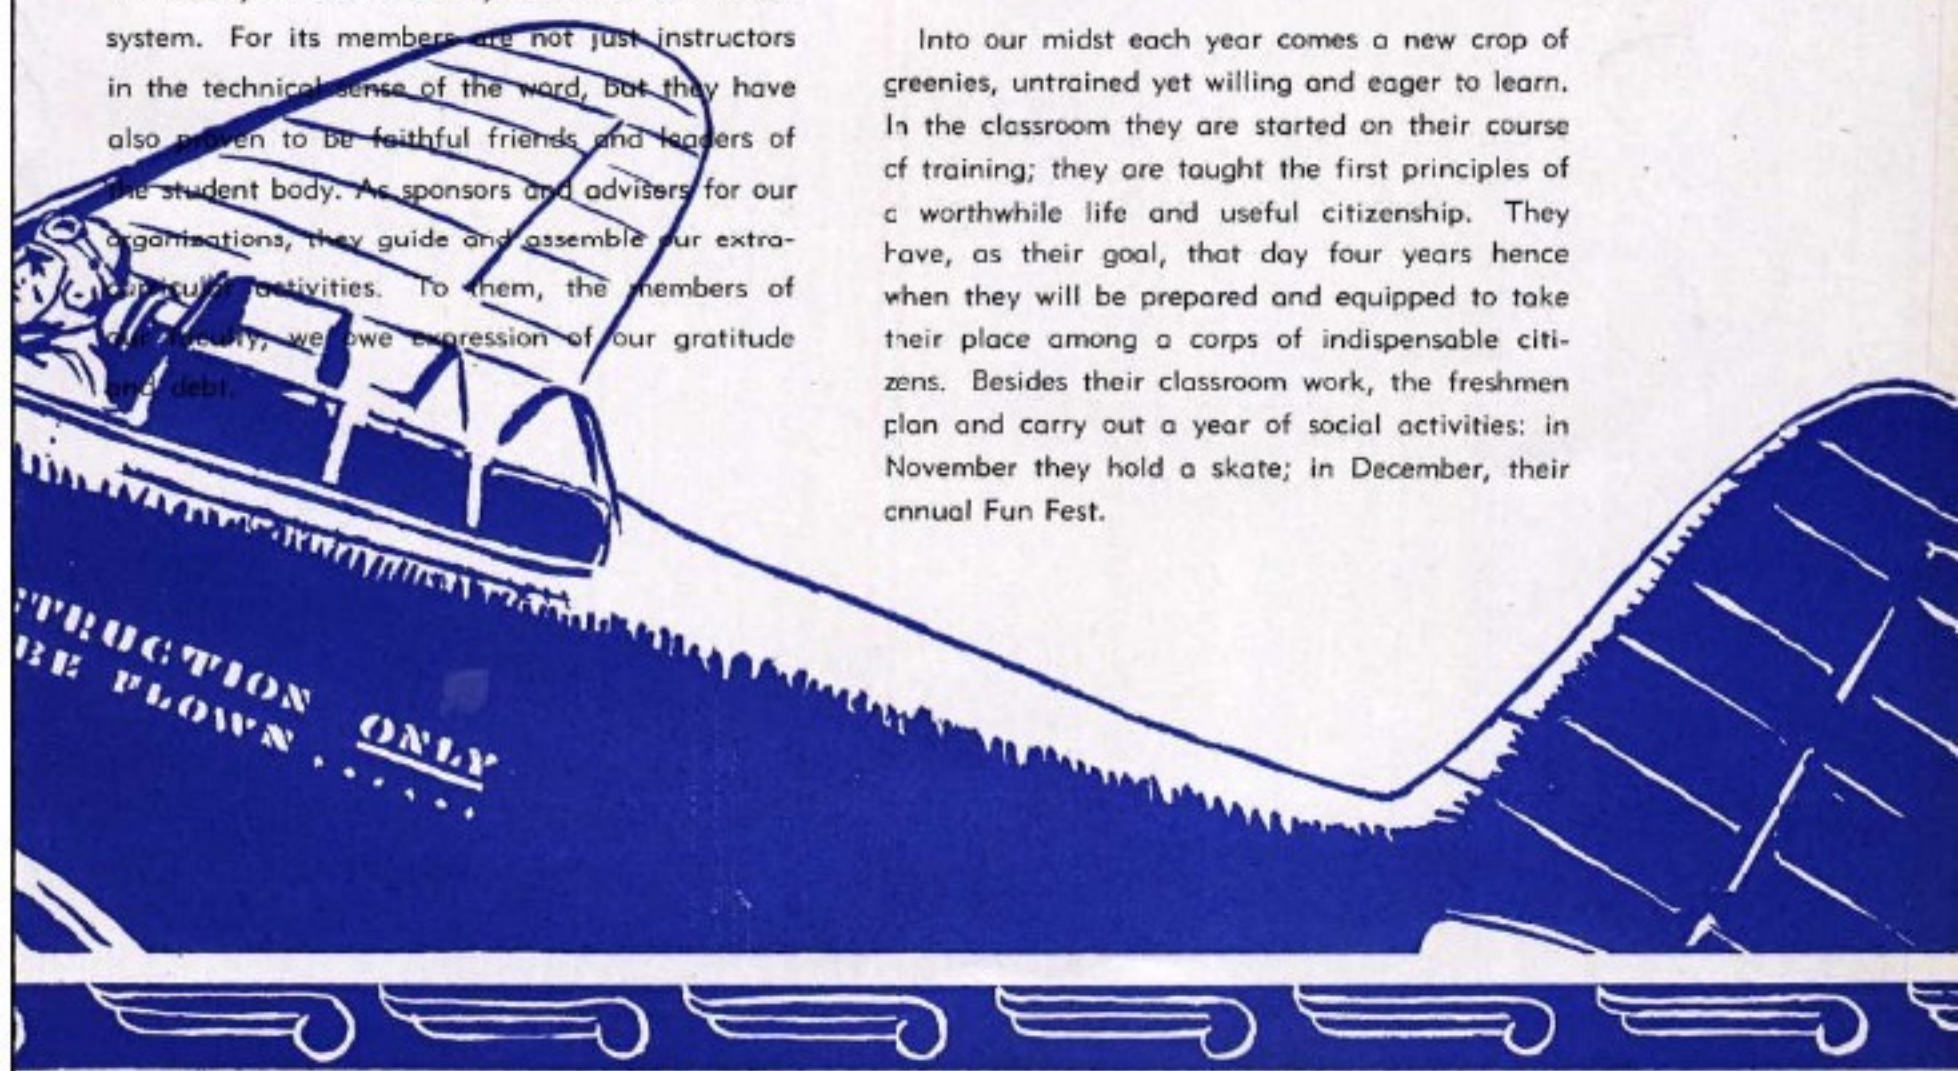

The Faculty

Just as the rudder, which guides the course, is an essential and integral part of an airship, so is the faculty a most necessary feature of our school system. For its members are not just instructors in the technical sense of the word, but they have also proven to be faithful friends and leaders of the student body. As sponsors and advisers for our organizations, they guide and assemble our extra-curricular activities. To them, the members of our faculty, we owe expression of our gratitude and debt.

The Freshmen

Into our midst each year comes a new crop of greenies, untrained yet willing and eager to learn. In the classroom they are started on their course of training; they are taught the first principles of a worthwhile life and useful citizenship. They have, as their goal, that day four years hence when they will be prepared and equipped to take their place among a corps of indispensable citizens. Besides their classroom work, the freshmen plan and carry out a year of social activities: in November they hold a skate; in December, their annual Fun Fest.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Mr. E. H. Blackburn,
President

Standing: Mr. Wolf, Mr. McKean, Mr. Hourigan, Mr. Gillis.

In all schools, large and small, a Board of Education is elected to be the guiding hand of the school system and to direct its policies. In New Kensington the members of the board are men of exceptional foresight and ability. In all their endeavors they consider first the welfare of our schools. The members of the board are as follows:

Mr. E. H. Blackburn, president; Mr. S. H. McCracken, vice president; Mr. A. F. Daughenbaugh, treasurer; Miss Varonica Mazur, secretary; Mr. Frank McKean, solicitor; Mr. E. T. Chapman, superintendent of schools; Mr. Mancel Gillis, Mr. H. M. Herr, Mr. J. M. Hourigan, Mr. H. L. Wolf.

SECRETARIES

DEPARTMENTS

"Ground work" at Ken Hi is divided into four schools—Classical, from which graduates may try for Flight Commands at college; General, which is a little more varied; Commercial, which may be utilized in the business world, is subdivided into specialized training along Clerical (Sales work), Bookkeeping (Accounting), and Secretarial (Stenographic) lines; and Home Economics school which specializes in Food, Child Care, and Clothing.

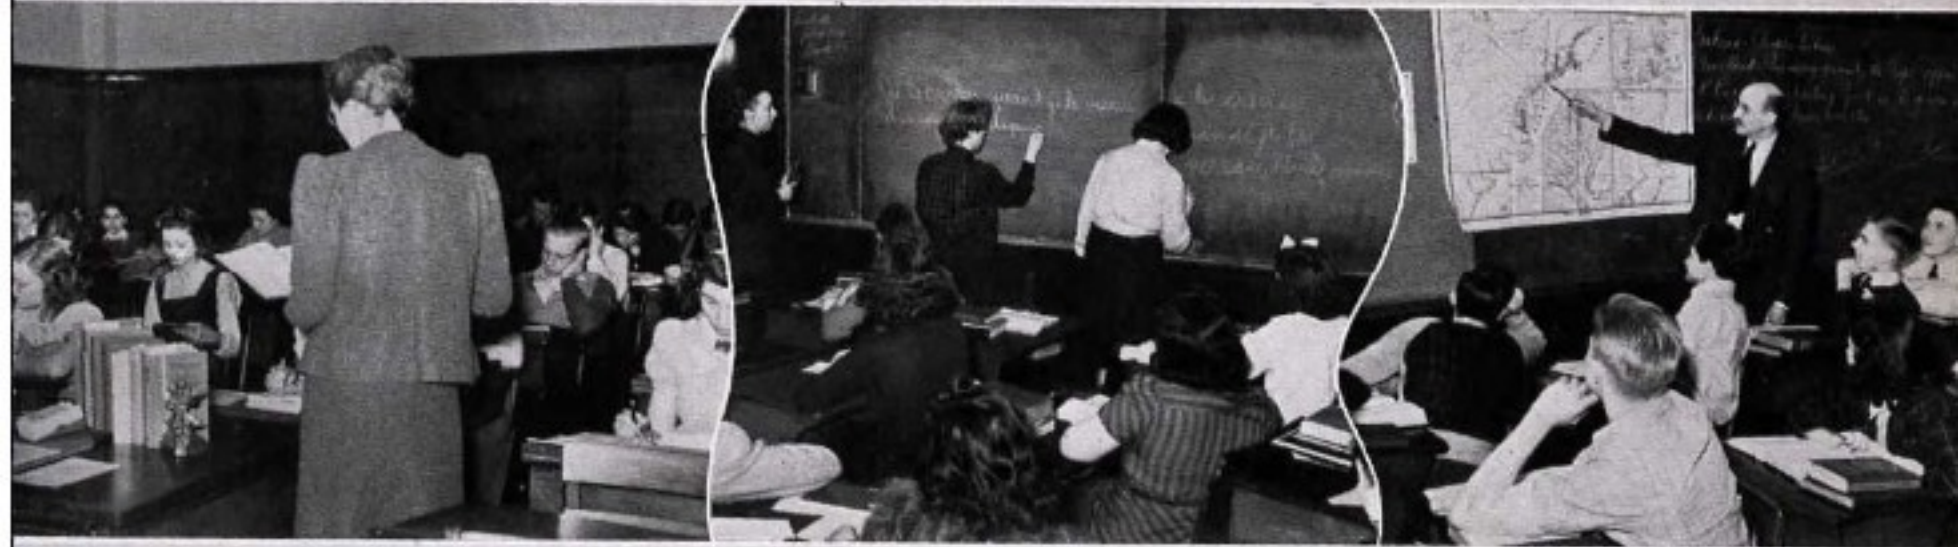

There is a training school for mechanics, too, represented by the Vocational School. Here, skilled workers are developed in the Machine Shop, Patternmaking, Drafting, and Electrical courses.

OUR

The Sophomores

The sophomores are the fledglings of the squadron and now for the first time are experiencing the taste of actual flight. In this capacity, they may at times try too much or become frightened and discouraged, but never, under any circumstances, will they "give up the ship." In them we find a strong spirit to succeed and we feel sure they will carry on in the spirit in which they have begun.

FLEDGLINGS

The Organizations

The various societies, clubs and organizations which we present in this division are comparable to the ignition system in the airplane. It is the purpose of these organizations to keep us in correct firing sequence and to supply the spark so necessary for smooth operation. Without them, as we might expect of an engine with a fouled spark plug, our school life would be but a series of fitful spurts and stops. To them indeed, we owe the smooth flight through our curricular responsibilities.

TRI-HI-Y

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character," and to promote better sportsmanship among the students is the true purpose of the Tri-Hi-Y. In accordance with this purpose and in the interest of the welfare of the school, this service organization has conducted many campaigns, most successful of which was that on "better sportsmanship." Besides sponsoring several social functions for themselves, the girls sold delicious candy and cookies to the faculty and the student body and made eight needy families happy on Christmas with baskets of food. The Tri-Hi-Y, under the able sponsorship of Miss Boucher, is composed of fifty-one junior and senior girls interested in the serviceable work of the club and willing to pledge themselves to its purpose.

HI-Y

Although an authorized chapter of the Hi-Y has existed within the limits of Ken Hi for many years, it might not be entirely erroneous to say that the club of today was organized about 1937. At that time it enjoyed a reincarnation when nine charter members took it upon themselves to lay the foundation for an enduring society. The rolls have gradually increased until now they contain about thirty names. In trying to continue the good work begun, the club has limited its social activities this year to a skate and a supper dance. From time to time it has undertaken some worthy project about the school. Perhaps the most publicized was the anti-booming campaign sponsored during the current basketball season.

LATIN CLUB

The fourth Wednesday of every month brings together the group of sophomores, juniors, and seniors known as the Latin Club, the only foreign language club in New Kensington High School. Programs consist of discussions of interesting subjects for which there isn't enough time in regular class periods. On several occasions a play, a pantomime, or a movie has varied the program and brought both information and entertainment to the club. Mrs. Sisley, as guest speaker one evening, described her trip to Europe and particularly to the land of Caesar and Cicero. Miss Hawk and Miss Rorabaugh serve as co-sponsors and are tireless in their efforts to make the programs interesting and beneficial. A picnic in May brings the year's activities to a close.

THESPIANS

For many people, young and old, the stage holds a peculiar fascination. The students of Ken Hi are no exception and the Thespians afford an outlet for any surging ambitions in the theatrical line. For it is through this progressive organization that students secure practical training in dramatics. Admission to the Dramatic Club, whose members are "understudies" of the Thespians, is gained through try-outs open to all students. About one-third of those who try out pass the test and even then they must "run the gauntlet" for a year. They must take part in many one act plays, work props, and help to produce the annual three-act comedy. If they survive a trying initiation, they emerge as full fledged Thespians.

Third row: Herrington, Skegas, Knarr, M. Abraham, J. Abraham, Rygiel, Gimala, Ososky, Grant, Morgan.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

One of the most active clubs at Ken Hi is the newly reorganized Commercial Club, sponsored by Miss Barranco and Mr. Kordes. Membership is strictly limited to junior and senior commercial students who are approved by the Commercial Faculty on the basis of scholarship, interest, and cooperation in commercial work. The semi-monthly meetings are classified as either business or social affairs. In accordance with the constitution, the business meetings conform with parliamentary procedure, and are devoted to discussions of club activities, finances, and plans. The evening socials, more informal, vary in programs from speakers and movies to plays, dancing, and "eats." The all-important treasury increases are made possible by means of skates, tea dances, and candy sales.

LEADERS CLUB

Under the guidance of Miss Phillips the Leaders Club really has lived up to its appellation. It staged a very successful skate in January, sponsored the ever-popular Lolly Pop Day, and held its annual Play Day. Also among its varied activities was a Mother and Daughter Banquet. These girls, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, maintaining a B average in gym work, assist in the girls' gym classes by refereeing games. When the gymnasium is available, they themselves participate in basketball games. Letters are awarded to the members who obtain the highest number of points through attendance at meetings and through playing basketball. The girls who are members are easily recognized, for this year they appeared in bright red sweaters bearing the insignia of the club.

Front row, left to right: Zinamon, H. Miller, Lucas, Pessolano, Miss Branthoover, Ross, Fisher, Raab, Johnston.

The Senior Red Cross, under its new sponsor, Miss Helen Kelly, has reached new heights in the past year. It has become one of Ken Hi's greatest service clubs. Dolls were dressed for the poor children at Christmas time, knitted afghans and scarves were sent to Britain, and good-will scrap-books were sent to South America. Social activities have been few in the Red Cross Club, but these few have been outstanding. A true South American Cabaret Dance was held which provided the outstanding social event for the club. A Cookie Day and a Bake Sale were held to supply funds to send representatives to the National Red Cross Convention at Washington. Although it is yet a budding organization, we predict that it will go far.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

For the younger people there is the Junior Red Cross. This group, headed by Miss Branthoover, furnishes strong competition for the Senior Red Cross. The Juniors have been especially active this year due to the drastic conditions in Europe. Each member has been weaving little patches which are later composed into a warm blanket. The completed blanket is then sent overseas to foreign soldiers. Although busy weaving, the members took time out to make up a huge Christmas basket which was sent to South America. To secure funds to carry on their work, the little group with the worthy cause sponsored a pretzel day. Due to the freshness of the goods and the persuasiveness of the sellers, the sale went over big and a nice profit was made.

Third row: Willmore, Vernam, Schmidt, Kenney, Hornetter, Jedlowski, Mangone.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Membership in the National Honor Society is the highest honor which the New Kensington High School can bestow on any of its students. A council composed of the principal and nine faculty members makes the selections on the basis of four qualities—character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Since the formation of the New Kensington chapter in 1925, the aim of this society has been to promote enthusiasm among the students for the development of future members of the society. Its activities are limited to choosing the big brother and sister for each section room in the fall, a candy sale to provide funds for the annual private dance in May, and a tea dance for the ten dollar awards to the best boy and girl citizens at graduation.

KENTONIAN

For the second consecutive year a girl has been editor of our school paper. In this, its twentieth year, the "Kentonian" has thrived under the capable management of Irene Miller as editor. The entire journalism class, under the supervision of Miss Russell, work willingly and hard to make the weekly publication really represent "Our School Exactly as it Goes." In various columns the students who are outstanding socially, scholastically, and athletically, are brought to the public eye. The Kentonian reporters not only snoop around Ken Hi, but also gather the "latest scoops" from Parnassus Junior High and Trade School. Everyone impatiently awaits Wednesday to receive and read his copy of the publication on which he relies for news of the school.

CAMERA CLUB

Are you one of the camera fiends who roam the earth today? If so, the Camera Club is the school organization with which you should affiliate yourself. Under the direction of Mr. Zeola, the club sponsor, appropriate subjects are investigated and projects are planned and carried out. In the seasons when the weather permits, the entire club hikes through the surrounding country to look for interesting material to photograph. During the winter months, the electrical aspects of photography are discussed at the meetings and guest speakers are brought before the club. One of the outstanding projects is the annual print show open to any member of our school. The proceeds of the club's tea dance provide cash prizes for all the winners.

Second row: Kaylor, Pallone, Allison, Wylie, Ames, Phillips, Ferry.
Third row: Limberg, Alex, Beals, Broffman, Kenny, Pati.

OFFICE STAFF

Several years ago an office staff, composed of seven girls chosen from the ranks of the senior commercial students, was created for the purpose of checking attendance, using this plan: As the section room teachers turn in the blue slips in the morning and at noon, the absentees are listed alphabetically on large sheets ruled for the various periods. Then, as the pink slips come in each period from the classes and study halls, the names are checked against those on the sheets. If they do not check, the pupil in question receives a mimeographed form requesting that he report to the office to explain his absence. Besides checking attendance, the staff members file various record cards, run errands, and perform other miscellaneous tasks.

MONITORS

The five minute warning bell rings. Three or four boys slide quietly from their seats. The question arises, "Who are they and where are they going?" This is easily answered. They are members of our newly organized hall traffic squad. For the first time at Ken Hi, we have taken direct steps to overcome the congestion in the halls. Stationed at strategic positions in the corridors, the monitors keep things going smoothly. With apparently no effort they direct the traffic up the front stairs and down the side stairs. They also assist the office in maneuvering seventeen hundred of us into our seats for assemblies. They are organized and boast as their one social affair a very successful supper dance.

VOCATIONAL HI-Y

VOCATIONAL HI-Y

The Vocational Hi-Y, made up of members of the junior and senior classes, is sponsored by a member of the faculty. In order to become a member of the Hi-Y, an applicant must fill an application blank and present it to the president or another officer. When sufficient applications have been received, a special meeting is held in order to vote for the applicants. It is the club's recent practice to hold meetings on the second and fourth Mondays of the month. They endeavor to have prominent speakers for many of these occasions. In the past few years, the club has done much to develop goodwill and higher morals in the school. It has also sponsored many social activities such as skates, plays, lolly pop day, and cookie-candy day.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Who knows? Perhaps we have a future Schiaparelli or female Adrian in the person of some member of the Home Economics Club; for these girls who are primarily interested in the old-fashioned art of sewing also take some art and design work on the side. Under the leadership of Miss Bryant and Miss Lyon, our home economists get together twice a month. Their first meeting, on the second Wednesday, is a purely business affair. Toward the end of each month, a social gathering is held. The aim of the officers is to have a guest speaker at each of these meetings—someone to speak on a subject which is of interest to the girls. Modern lighting, food, grooming, new method cooking utensils, and electrical appliances have been some of the subjects discussed.

FIRST SOLOS

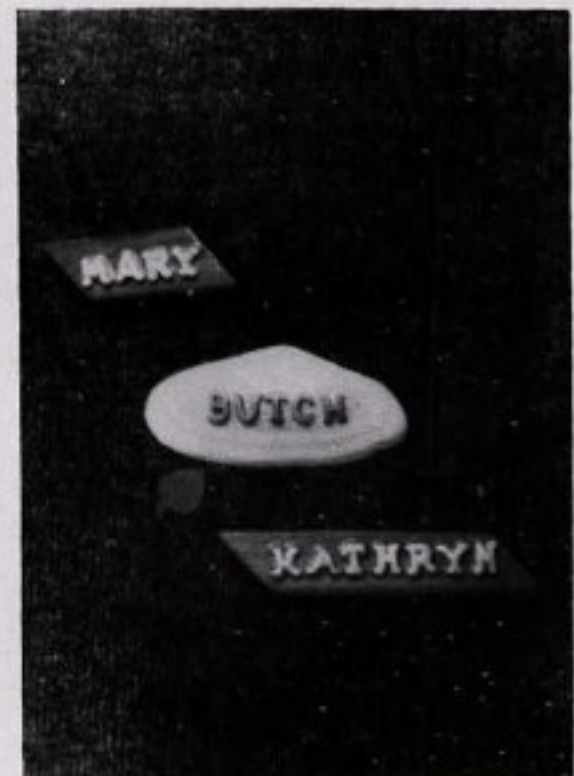

Juniors

As the year progresses, the members of the junior class, having experienced their first solos, look eagerly forward to the day when they will proudly claim their "wings" and take full command of the ship. That day is not far distant although that short space of time represents a great deal of endeavor and hard work and earnest effort to "come through" on the final test.

Activities

Just as pilots of the airlines depend upon wise traffic management for the safe conduct of their huge ships, so we of Ken Hi rely upon the Board of Activities for guidance in things extra-curricular. This board co-ordinates such diverse operations as those of clubs, band, athletic teams and safety patrols. It has proved most necessary to a smooth-flowing routine and we congratulate its members on its success.

A stranger visiting on the hill district last fall might have wondered what was happening upon seeing the signs "Vote the Prom Party ticket," or "If I'm elected—I promise—" and so forth; but it was only Ken Hi students practicing the right of franchise. With a successful year almost over — a year filled with many enjoyable social activities—shows, skates, and dances—we can congratulate ourselves on having elected such capable, enthusiastic people to be our class officers.

BOARD OF ACTIVITIES

The first and third Tuesdays of each month, two representative members from each of the three upper classes and four faculty members meet as the Board of Activities to guide the Ken Hi student body through one hundred eighty days of happy and successful living. Again, as in previous years, this governing board of the school compiled and submitted to the students the activities calendar of the year. It also conducted the class elections and counted the ballots. In November it staged a presidential election in which the Democratic nominee was an easy victor. The entertaining assemblies, presented at intervals throughout the year, were arranged by this board. The annual banquet was held in December with a former member of the "Little German Band" as guest.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL BOARD OF ACTIVITIES

The Board of Activities has been active this year in helping to better the school and in providing new ideas to make school life more interesting for all the students. One of the things its members did this year was to put new curtains on the windows in the auditorium, so that the room could be made dark enough to show moving pictures to the student body. Formerly, the light had filtered through the light window blinds and had made it difficult to see the pictures. After lunch, each noon, one or two of the student members sell candy to students who may wish to purchase it. In this way the board raises funds with which to carry on its good work.

OUR BANKERS AND PROTECTORS

STUDENTS' SAVINGS BANK

Ken Hi points, with justifiable pride, to a tiny room on the third floor. Here, in the Students' Savings Bank, are handled all school finances from activities' subscriptions to various clubs' accounts. The staff, under the capable supervision of Mr. Vorlage, is composed of commercial students selected in their junior year, and consists of two tellers, a check-writer, two bookkeepers, two activities' bookkeepers, two messengers, and two auditors. Regular banking hours are maintained; bookkeeping is done sixth and seventh periods, and strictest accuracy is assured through the use of the latest bookkeeping and adding machines. Since its establishment in 1916, the bank has grown steadily; today it is an important part of our student life and has been cited as an example in various textbooks.

JUNIOR PATROL

A real service is rendered to their fellow students by the Junior Patrolmen. These boys voluntarily aid our police department in safeguarding school children from traffic accidents. Whether it is rain, shine or snow, one may find these boys at their posts, directing motorists and students alike safely on their way. Not one accident has marred the fine record set by this group. The Junior Patrol is a city-wide organization set up nine years ago by Lieutenant William Fowler, juvenile officer of the New Kensington police force. The boys wear uniforms of red and black. They are drilled by police officials and take part in many parades. We sincerely hope they continue their great work and retain the fine record they have set up.

HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR

KENSYLVANIANS

For several years the Kensylvanians have kept Ken Hi students "in the swim" with their popular renditions of the latest song hits. However, this is the first year the orchestra has taken its own responsibilities entirely upon itself. It has in an unselfish and industrious manner succeeded in maintaining a "swing" band much admired and appreciated by the students. Its arrangements of soft, sweet, melodies all but put the waltzers and the sentimentalists in heaven, while the method in which it easily slips into the "groove" and the "jive" fairly makes the "jitterbugs" pant for more. It is with hats off that we pay tribute to a group who are ahead not only in their endeavor, but also in our hearts.

HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR

"New things" describes the 1940-41 season for Ken Hi's vocalists — every thing from a new director to a new name. Early one November morning a group of amazed sopranos discovered a new face in the gym, Mr. Davis' in place of Mrs. Grepory's. Soon new music began to appear. One Saturday morning in December the choir gathered at the Baptist Church to sing over station WKPA, another new experience for the group. In March came the big surprise. The choir entered a county-wide contest competing with other groups in towns round about. May eighth—and the final wind-up of new things. Before an audience of several hundred the High School Choir, dressed in black robes, presented a concert of "numbers," the majority sung "a cappella."

"SO LET US FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT"

THE BAND

The music begins and the color guard steps forward on the gym floor. While the band plays "The Star Spangled Banner," the audience stands at attention and sings the anthem. Then the tempo of the music changes, and as the five boys of the color guard leave the floor, the flag swingers appear. These eight girls toss and twirl their flags up, down, and around. When their act is finished, they march from the floor. By their generous applause, the audience shows approval of the fine work done by these girls and their instructors, Mr. Gregory and Max Kipfer. The band plays another selection and by that time the team is ready for the second half of the game.

CHEERLEADERS

What this year's cheerleaders lacked in size has been more than made up in pep. By means of a contest to test the student's ability, they obtained new cheers. Their enthusiastic use of the new cheers and new songs has made them an outstanding group in the valley. Their snappy red uniforms seemed to vibrate with vitality and to reflect their radiance on both team and fans. They were loyal to the teams regardless of the scores. They fought for good sportsmanship on the part of the student body and presented themselves as the best example. They frequently held pep meetings to help the students to learn the new yells. In short, they personified the kind of cheering for which Ken Hi would like to be known.

DRUM MAJORETTES

White uniforms gaily decorated with gold braid, tall white hats with fluttering plumes of bright red feathers, and high white boots—those are the uniforms of our drum majorettes. Contrary to the custom of previous years, we now have four high stepping young ladies rather than the usual one. The girls made their first appearance at the Titusville football game where they received more than just the usual applause; and since then they have gone far on the road to success. Not only do these four girls twirl batons, but they also jump rope, waltz, rhumba, and their most recent and outstanding accomplishment is roller skating. The student body of Ken Hi is proud of the majorettes and hopes they continue to enjoy success.

VOCATIONAL JUNIOR PATROL

Trade School has its own Junior Patrol consisting of eight boys. These boys, clad in their red and black corduroy uniforms, must stand on various corners near the school and assist small children across the street. They must stay out in the cold and rain until all the children have safely crossed the street. They also practice drills to participate in parades and to keep in training. The captain of the group is Fred McCollum and his assistant is Carl Prazener. Occasionally the boys are rewarded with free passes to the movies, though they cannot be adequately rewarded for their services. We congratulate these boys for the fine work which they are doing.

WE GET

OUR WINGS

Athletics

The following pages of the book will present to many the most interesting material of the entire publication. This section deals with the "fighter pilots" of our squadron, the sturdy athletes of our football, basketball, baseball, tennis and golf teams. It attempts to pay due honor to their Herculean accomplishments and the yeomen service which they have rendered in attaining such enviable athletic records.

The Seniors

After four years of study, fun and pleasant associations, the seniors are at last ready to receive their "wings." It is with mixed emotions that we watch them embark hopeful and ambitious upon their careers. For some, there will be stormy skies with ceiling and visibility zero. Others may achieve the coveted rank of Flight Commander. This is the take-off. Happy Landings.

FLETCHER SAYS

COACHES

Practice started on August 26, though Saltsburg did not invade until September 14. They were no match for our heavy, fast moving line. Scoring ran wild with Treziak scoring three times. Rywak made the first tackle of the season. Final score 44-7, Ken Hi.

September 20, we played our first night game against Beaver Falls. During the course of the game several freak incidents occurred, the chief of which was Carl Adams' interception and touchdown run. Final figures favored us with 33-7.

On September 28, Ken Hi repeated against Vandergrift. This game had many thrilling highlights. First of these was the aerial duel between Sokolski and Winieski. Another was Karl Kriegel's 45 yard run near the end of the fourth quarter. The last figures the scoreboard showed were 27-6 for Ken Hi.

The Tigers had a trying day on October 25, as we broke into the win column after two years' stinging defeats to the tune of 38-6. Perriello blasted "The Rock" continually away from the play. Bultzo stopped a second touchdown threat with a flying tackle from the rear.

SQUAD

Third row: Tierney, Kwiatkowski, M. Namey, G. Namey, Balla, Lebandoski, E. Gutknecht, Huet, Zender, Hammond, Cudrak, Wachs, Swiner, Hunter, Buckner, Siuta.

YOU GET OUT OF FOOTBALL

The centers shone again as Hunter snared a pass and, with nice blocking by Myers, scored.

We saw Altoona on October 19, for the first time. The game, played in snow before 8,000 shivering fans, had a close first half ending in a 7-7 deadlock. The only other score came in the fourth quarter when Altoona scored twice. The outcome of the game was 21-7, Altoona.

Ken Hi met another first time opponent when Titusville invaded the stadium on October 26. Zender made the first effective sojourn of 25 yards. Sokolski made the season's longest run—an 80 yard broken field dash. Again old Ken Hi was victorious, 32-12.

Ken Hi met Arnold on their field on November 1. Gutknecht scored first when he picked up a ball which had not been blown dead and streaked goalward. Vestrand was not to be outdone as he intercepted a pass in the third quarter and scampered 40 yards down the side lines to score. Arnold wilted early and the "Ken Men" marched to an easy 33-13 victory.

Springdale invaded the stadium on November 9. Zender scored early on the grandfather of deception, "Statue of Liberty." Sokolski converted. Sokolski kept up his fine passing record by completing 11 out of 14 passes for a total of 230 yards. Huet got the touchdown fever and Feola showed the might of the small. Huet, Zender, Perriello were responsible for the scoring in the 41-6 victory.

Mon City came here on November 16, and after a terrific battle on both sides, handed us a parting gift of a 7-0 defeat. Lee scored the only touchdown and Ackman converted. Zender was the most effective ground gainer for us.

VARSITY

A highly nervous team took the floor on December 13, against a rangy aggregation from Penn Hi. The invaders bowed to a 29-21 defeat handed them by the Kensters. Ken Hi invaded Monessen on December 16. Although the second stringers started the game and the first period ended in a 7-7 deadlock, the varsity went on to win 27-26. The Ken Hi team which took the floor against Scott on December 20 hung up a tight 28-27 victory. With one minute to go, Scott held a three point lead which Bakewell overcame with two long shots to give us a one point lead. Ken Hi travelled to Scott on December 23, where they met with some tough opposition, bowing to the score of 22-28. Vandergrift invaded the Ken gym on December 27. The first quarter was nip and tuck with neither side getting an appreciable lead. The Kensters climaxed a brilliant second half with a 38-26 victory. On December 30, Swissvale handed the Kenmen their second defeat of the season.

A determined Springdale team played here on January 3. The crowd was in a frenzy when the game ended with Ken Hi on the long end of a 14-17 victory.

The Van team played the Kensters on January 7 in what was supposedly a practice game. The score was 34-9 for Ken Hi. The Kensters met Ford City on January 10, for the opener of the Section 1, W.P.I.A.L. title tilt. The half ended with our team having a one point lead. The third quarter was opened effectively when Ken Hi rolled up eleven points. The fourth quarter saw Ken Hi ahead and as the final whistle blew the scoreboard showed Ken Hi the victor in a 30-25 struggle. Springdale crashed the win column after an eight year wait on January 14, when she handed the Raiders a 45-40 defeat. On January 17, the Raiders suffered their first section defeat at the hands of Kittanning's "Wildcats." Ken Hi rallied in the third quarter and was only two points behind when the rally ended. The whistle ended a 33-25 game with the Glockmen on the short end. "Be Courteous" signs were hung in the gym on January 21 when Butler invaded, but the Kensters were hardly discourteous when they handed the visitors a 26-22 defeat. After Butler tied the score in the fourth quarter, the Kensters "turned on the heat" and scored 6 points to 2 to close the scoring. Trailing by 9 points at the half the Raiders fell short on a victory as Arnold dumped in a last minute shot to win a 24-22 ball game on January 24 in the gym. The Raiders took advantage of an early lead to swamp Har-Brac on January 28 to the tune of 32-19.

The boys from Ford City handed the plucky cagers of Ken Hi a setback in the February 4th game. The Raiders put on a tremendous drive in the fourth quarter and deadlocked the score 30-30. After quieting this drive the Glassers went on to win 35-30. February 11 will long be remembered by those at the Ken Hi-Kit-tanning game of that night. The Raiders took this 28-27 game, packed with thrills, on forfeit. The perennial jinx of the Kensters still held on February 18 as they bowed to Butler in an extra period game. Butler grabbed an early lead and the varsity came into action in the second quarter. The next three quarters as well as the overtime period were fast and furious, but alas, the Butlerites were victorious 32-29. A howling, screaming mob saw the Kenmen emerge victorious over their steadfast rivals from Arnold. When the last whistle blew Ken Hi led 36-21. The Ken-Tiger game of February 25 was no easy victory. The margin between the teams as the final period began was only four points and midway in that same period the game was still undecided. Pallone settled this weighty problem by scoring the final points for Ken Hi thereby giving the Raiders a 43-33 victory over the Big Green.

The 1941 "Taleoken" is continuing the practice of its predecessor in choosing a "Hall of Fame" to honor outstanding members of the senior class. Realizing the difficulty and responsibility involved in making such a selection, the staff asked six faculty members to choose six students from a panel of thirty, nominated for this honor by eight other members of the faculty. They based their selection of three boys and three girls on character, service, scholarship, leadership, personality, and popularity with the faculty and the student body. We present on these pages the winners of this honor and offer to them our congratulations. They represent not one group in the school, but all. Let us hope that the future staffs of the "Taleoken" will continue to confer this honor on outstanding seniors.
